

Centaurus Arm

The innermost and farthest of the four arms of the galaxy colonized by the Sollan Empire, north of Sagittarius, Orion, and Perseus. Most Centaurine provinces are clustered near the heart of the galaxy, just south of the Veil of Marinus and the galactic core.

Berenike

- “ A former trading hub and mining colony on the Centaurine frontier on the border with the Veil of Marinus, site of a major battle in the Cielcin Wars.
- Tor Paulos of Colchis, Demon in White

Primarachate: Centaurus

Province: Unknown

Known Prefectures:

Deira

Locations of Interest:

Deira: The capital and primary settlement on Berenike, a multi-tiered city built into the five-mile-deep chasm of the Valles Merguli. Massive in scale, with layers of terraces, towers, bridges, and bunkers, the city clings to valley walls and shelters beneath the defense of the Storm Wall. Deira houses the planetary government, wealthy residential quarters, and industrial districts, and it serves as the center of Berenike's Legionary defenses.

Iselia: Coastal town, about a hundred miles south of the city of Deira, down wher the Mergo River empties into the sea. Site of a Berenike Orbital Defense Force air base.

Ondu Station: A massive orbital platform in synchronous orbit above the capital city Deira on the planet Berenike. The cylindrical and spire-ringed structure serves as the primary hub for the Orbital Defense Fleet and a critical reservoir of antihydrogen fuel.

Storm Wall: An immense, mile-high fortification spanning hundreds of miles along the windward edge of the Valles Merguli on the planet Berenike. Constructed to shield the capital city Deira from Berenike's catastrophic coriolis storms. Engineered off-world at staggering expense by the Wong-Hopper Consortium, the Wall includes bunkers, command posts, and the Legion's headquarters within its barbican. It is the primary defensive structure on the planet and a marvel of human engineering, appearing to some as a natural feature due to its scale. One of the gates is known as the Whitechapel Gate.

Valles Merguli: Also known as the Valley of the Diver. A vast, tectonic chasm on the planet Berenike spanning hundreds of miles and reaching depths of over five miles. It forms the natural foundation and windbreak for the capital city of Deira. On its leeward (western) side are the terraces of the lower city and the governor's palaces, while the windward (eastern) side hosts the Storm Wall and upper industrial zones. The valley's geography is central to the planet's protection from Berenike's lethal storms.

The planet Berenike was first colonized by the Sollan Empire in ISD 13112 with the assistance of the Wong-Hopper Consortium. A tectonically dead world dominated by flatlands and shallow, algae-rich seas, the planet was an important mining colony and transit hub during the early phases of Sollan expansion into the Veil of Marinus, as well as a base of Legion operations during the wars of annexation between the empire and various freeholder territories. Due to its lack of mountains, enormous coriolis storms whip up around the equatorial regions, with winds reaching an excess of two hundred miles per hour quite regularly, forcing the planet's settlements to be either underground or—in the case of Deira, the planet's only major city—built into the planet's largest canyon, the Valles Merguli. The so-called Valley of the Diver follows the track of the Mergo River from its headwaters down to the sea.

Berenike was never given over to a nobile house and remains a holding of the Solar Throne, and as such is ruled by a governor-general appointed by the Imperial Council. It fell from prominence after the conquest of Marinus shifted Imperial focus in the region, but remains a well-trafficked port on the route from the inner empire to the frontier.

Colchis

“ The first Imperial colony in the Centaurus Arm. A moon of the gas giant Atlas. Never an important colony, it is nevertheless known for the massive scholiast athenaeum at Nov Belgaer.
- Tor Paulos, Empire of Silence

Primarachate: Centaurus

Province: Unknown

Known Prefectures:

Aea - city/prefecture, known protectorate of Colchis

Locations of Interest:

Archivists' Grotto: Subterranean caves hidden beneath Nov Belgaer athenaeum on Colchis; Adorned with hanging stalactites, graven pillars, statues, great veins of glowing algae, and aisles of stone cultivated into fractal patterns.

Gabriel's Archive: A heavily restricted, subterranean repository beneath the Nov Belgaer Athenaeum, constructed during the reign of Gabriel II and designed by his brother, the engineer Tor Aramini. Hidden below sea level and sealed by massive hangar-like doors, the Archive houses forbidden artifacts and knowledge from the Mericanii era, including potentially functional pre-Foundation War technologies. Guarded by strict Chantry Strictures, its contents are proscribed by Writ of the Chantry, and unauthorized dissemination is a capital offense. The facility includes fail-safes such as atomic demolition charges and a floodable reservoir designed to contain or destroy any escape of radiation or dangerous technology. SERIES SPOILERS: In Demon in White, structural schematics reveal that the Archive encircles a concealed blast pit housing the buried Mericanii ship U.S.S. Horizon.

Imperial Library: Archive of the Empire's greatest secrets situated within the walls of Nov Belgaer athanaeum upon the heights of the mesa overlooking the city of Aea on the planet Colchis.

Nov Belgaer: Massive Scholiast Athenaeum; Location of the Imperial Library

Sevrast Islands: Archipelago to the north of Nov Belgaer, on the far side of the equator. Comprised of a few small towns and fishing settlements, but the greater part of the islands is still wilderness. The remnant of long-extinct volcanism, craggy climes rising above the shores.

— Gurra

— Jara

— Racha

— Thessa: Deserted island in the Sevrast Islands on Colchis. A wide and mossy crescent protecting a beach of black sand. The locals call it the Rock, for on the sides facing the other isles, gray cliffs rose and shoals threatened to smash their fishing junks, but the far side—the inside—was gentle, the crescent's arms wide and inviting. Groves of leafy trees stood green and yellowing on the shelves above the beach where rows of white buildings stood on stilts far back from the water's edge. They'd been flown down from orbit by the Imperial Red Company, having been purchased from one of the Wong-Hopper Consortium carriers orbiting the planet.

Colchis is the primary moon of the planet SAG-8813D, colloquially known as Atlas. Human settlement on Colchis goes back to the fifth millennium ISD, following the Hundred Year Terror, in which House Avent was removed from the throne by Boniface the Pretender. In the wake of that civil war, the newly reinstated Emperor Gabriel II ordered the Imperial Archives moved from Avalon to the newly minted colony of Colchis, then a remote military outpost. Ever since, it has been the site of the Imperial Great Library and maintained by the scholiasts. Despite this crucial function, the rest of Colchis has remained relatively undeveloped, its human settlements scattered wildly across the planet's many little islands. Large-scale settlement of the moon is forbidden by Imperial decree, and those not living in the Library and in the capital city of Aea are mostly descended from those few settlers whose presence on Colchis predated the construction of the Library.

Colchis was never given over to a nobile house and remains a holding of the Solar Throne, and as such is ruled by a governor-general appointed by the Imperial Council. Formerly a trade nexus with the Sagittarien colonies. Following the emergence of better warp drives and fuel economies, the old roads nearer the core were abandoned. Less than a million people live on the planet, and half of that number live in Aea.

Gododdin

- “ A system between the Centaurus and Sagittarius Arms of the galaxy, famously destroyed by Hadrian Marlowe during the final battle in the Crusade.
- Tor Paulos, Empire of Silence

Primarachate: Centaurus

Province: Unknown

Known Prefectures:

Unknown

Locations of Interest:

Catraeth: Catraeth was one of those cities built after a world's initial colonization and showed no signs of the ugly, prefabricated structures built by the Consortium for rapid settlement. Its buildings were all of white stone quarried from the mountains in whose last peak the city sheltered above the seemingly infinite expanse of grassland the natives called the Green Sea. In the distance, great shoals of rock upthrust from the flat landscape like islands and broke the perfect horizon beneath an eggshell sky.

Fort Din: built upon a network of bunkers that honeycombed the mountain beneath it for miles. They were built to withstand an orbital bombardment, designed for the days of interhouse warfare and rebellious lords, intended to shelter the fort's staff for months and even years using starship-grade life support, hydroponics, and doubtless the planet's plentiful supply of protein-base from the bromos crop; overlooks the city of Catraeth; The southern spur of Fort Din stood farthest from the city, looking out upon the Green Sea and the ruddy buttes rising from it. The wind off the mountains smelled of rain and tugged at the dry branches of those few trees the Legion permitted to grow within the fort. The barracks themselves were an ugly, L-shaped building of steel and cement white-washed and flat-roofed, bristling with antennae and comms equipment. The yard between the two arms of that building had been rolled flat in construction, and was barren but for the stray weeds. Catellan: SIR AMALRIC OSMAN

Grand Bazaar: large marketplace visited by the Imperial Red Company during their first visit to Gododdin in ISD 16523.

The Green Sea: a seemingly infinite expanse of verdant grassland beneath the mountain outside the city of Catraeth on Gododdin. Filled with rising buttes and oat fields where bromos livestock are raised.

The planet Gododdin has been of strategic importance to the Sollan Empire's Colonial Office since humanity first began expanding into the Centaurus Arm of the galaxy. The Gododdin system lies midway between the Sagittarius and Centaurus Arms, in the midst of the great Sullen Gulf—an island on the otherwise decades-long route through empty space to the nearest settled system, making it an important trade hub and military base. For this reason, it has remained under direct control of the Sollan Emperor, who appoints a governor-general to oversee the territory. It is famous for the role it played in the Cielcin Wars, where it was the site of Emperor William XXIII's last stand against the combined forces of the alien invaders—and the site of Hadrian Marlowe's great and terrible victory.
